Privacy Policy

Kimberley Karavan Owners Group (KKOG) is required by law to keep certain personal information in its membership records, even if we don't use it very much or at all ourselves. Examples are home and postal addresses.

We also collect other information that helps us run our Group, and can help members help each other. Examples are phone numbers, email addresses, rego numbers, build dates, etc.

Limited membership data in the form of Contact Lists is published within the Group on the Group's forum strictly for the use of members in a social context. The public cannot see the Contact Lists.

The Management Committee of KKOG will NEVER release any membership data to any person or organisation outside the Group without the explicit permission of the individual members concerned, or as required by law.

Members of KKOG are prohibited from providing any information held in membership records or contact lists to persons or organisations outside KKOG for any purpose whatsoever without explicit permission from the individuals concerned.
